PHILLIPS OPENS NEXT WEEK

Full Registration of More Than Six Hundred Promises Successful Year—Two New Houses Available to Accommodate Additional Students

Phillips academy will open next week with an enrollment well over 600 and promising to exceed that of last year. Their number include boys from all over the United States, particularly from the West, as well as several foreign countries. Lawrence deGive, son of Henry L. deGive, the Belgian consul to this country, is among their number.

Two additional houses have been made available for dormitory purposes. The house at 67 Bartlet street recently owned by John E. Sullivan has been purchased for occupancy by Charles Salisbury of Lawrence, P. A. '95. Mr. Salisbury's son, Arnold H. Salisbury, is entering the academy this year and there will be accommodations in the home for eight other students. The Haywood house on Phillips street, occupied by Henry S. Hopper, and until recently by Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McCoubrie and family, has been thoroughly renovated. Mr. and Mrs. Hopper will occupy the apartment on the ground floor, leaving room for six students on the upper floor. There will also be marked improvements in the surrounding grounds including terraces, hedges and other planting.

The most notable addition promised to the material equipment of Phillips academy is the million dollar auditorium to be known as George Washington hall, the foundations for which are already under way. The contractor is the Starrett company of New York and it is hoped that the building will be completed at the opening of the school in September, 1926. A detailed story of the plans for this building has previously been given in these columns.

Only five new names have been added to the faculty. Alan Blackmer will teach English and also coach basketball. He was graduated from Williams with the Class of 1924, Phi Beta Kappa, and took his Master's degree at the University of Chicago in 1925.

Robinson Shepard, P. A. 1915, Harvard 1920, will be the assistant in chemistry and teach some courses in mathematics. Mr. Shepard's course at Harvard was interrupted by the World War. He served in the Field Signal Battalion and also spent some time in post armistice work. Since graduating from Harvard he has been engaged in business in Franklin, N. H.

Josiah T. Phinney, a graduate of Yale, has been chosen as a teacher of mathematics. He taught last year at the high school in Greenfield.

William B. Jacob, who comes to Phillips Andover from Groton, will teach Latin. He was graduated from Bowdoin with the Class of 1923 in which he held a high rank. While he was in college, he was prominent in undergraduate activities and played on the varsity football team.

John H. Dye, who for many years has resided in Andover for the greater part of the year, will be secretary to Dr. Stearns and act as proctor at Williams hall.

George French, instructor in French and German, and Mrs. French, have returned after a profitable year spent abroad; and will

ABBOT ACADEMY RESUMES

Several Changes Have Been Made in the Faculty—Andover Girls Rank High in College Examinations

Abbot Academy will reopen next week with a full registration list. The enrollment of boarding students is 135, of day students 46, making a total of 181.

Day students are asked to register on Tuesday afternoon, September 15, in Abbot Hall at one-thirty. Boarding students will register Wednesday, September 16, before six o'clock. The first chapel exercises will be held Thursday morning, September 17, at nine o'clock, in Abbot Hall.

Few changes may be noted in the buildings and grounds, though much time, labor and money have been spent in putting everything in perfect condition for the school year. Eleven new hardwood floors have been laid in Draper Hall, on the second floor, wing; Sherman Cottage is receiving a fresh coat of white paint; and many other less conspicuous improvements have been made.

The loss of Miss Howey from the faculty makes a notable change in the staff of the school. Miss Howey has been a member of the faculty for twenty-one years and has served the Academy with loyal devotion. She has been an inspiring and illuminating teacher for many eager groups of girls, who remember her with continual gratitude. Her great service to the school has already been appropriately recognized by the Trustees. She will be greatly missed both in the school and in the town where she has many warm friends. She leaves to take a position as Instructor in English in the Branson School, Ross, California. The change is made in the interest of her young nephew, William Whitwell, who will make his home with her there The warm good wishes of all her friends follow her.

Miss Howey's classes in Literature and History of Art will be carried on by Miss Josephine Hammond. Miss Hammond, who is a graduate of the Boston Normal School, taught for some years with notable success in the Boston and Roxbury schools. She then took her degree in Teachers' College of Columbia Unibersity, after which, she was for a number of years Professor of Literature in Reed College, Oregon. She returned to the East for reasons of health, and after a short period of rest, established "The Speedwell Country Day School" in Danvers. Miss Hammond is anxious to devote more time to literary work than this enterprise permits. She has written much along literary and educational lines and is in demand as a lecturer on these topics. She has also published poems from time to time, and her pageant, "Everywoman's Road," which was produced under her direction at Reed College, won high praise from all who saw it, among them from such an authority on

SMITH & DOVE STRIKE HANGS FIRE

Strikers Vote Not to Accept Concessions Granted by Management and Not to Return to Work on Next Monday Morning

In spite of what is considered by many of the Smith & Dove strikers as a fair and reasonable answer to their demands, the failure of the management to meet those demands to the letter, especially in regard to the "ten percent for all workers," has up to the present time prevented an amicable settlement of their difficulties.

At a meeting of the strikers lasting nearly two and one half hours held yesterday afternoon in Fraternal hall following a conference between the strike committee and Treasurer Bodwell in the morning, a secret ballot was taken, resulting in an overwhelming vote again returning to work on the terms offered. It is said that less than 200 of the 450 strikers were present and voting at the meeting. It is expected that another meeting will be held on Sunday afternoon when it is hoped that a much larger and more fairly representative gathering will assemble.

A report of the conference between the strikers and the management held the previous forenoon was given by what was termed the members of the "hand-picked" committee at a general meeting held in Fraternal hall last week Friday. All the members as they were called upon to speak, were unanimous in expressing the opinion that Treasurer Bodwell had listened patiently to their grievances as told in turn by members of the various departments expressing his interest in many conditions in the mill that had not previously been brought to his notice, and assuring them that they would receive his personal attention. He also promised, they said, that the wages of those receiving the smaller amounts of pay would be increased.

As the members of the committee which made these statements did not officially represent the strikers as organized, no action was taken on their report.

The original strike committee as chosen at the meeting held on the Playstead the first week of the strike was discharged, the general opinion being that it was too large to carry on negotiations efficiently. A new committee with one representative from each department was then chosen by acclamation. The work outlined for this new strike committee was to draw up a set of demands which, when approved at a general meeting of the strikers, were to be presented in writing to the mill management by a committee of five chosen from the larger committee.

The demands were drawn up and delivered to the management on Tuesday morning of this week by the following chosen group: William Snyder, Stuart Frazer, Mrs. Gertrude Chick, Amos Henault, and Mrs. Anne Ness.

Yesterday a letter was received from Treasurer Bodwell, accompanying a draft of the strikers demands with each, several complaints individually answered. Mr. Bodwell's letter and the demands with their answers are given herewith:

To the Employees of the Smith & Dove Mfg. Co:

Referring to your demands, we would repeat what we said at the two previous conferences, namely, that we cannot grant

FOURTH BAND CONCERT

Twice Postponed Concert of Bernard's Band of Lawrence to Be Given Tonight at Park

The fourth and last concert of the season, sponsored by the Andover Chamber of Commerce will be given on the Park tonight by Bernard's Band of Lawrence, Henry Bernard, Conductor.

Mr. Bernard is a learned musician, a graduate of several musical conservatories in France and has been rehearsing this band for several years. The majority of the men are ex-service men and there are several soloists of experience and ability. This band recently furnished the music at Rockingham Park. July 4th.

The program selected is sure to please as it includes many popular numbers and several divertissements.

The concerts this season have been largely attended and afforded a great deal of pleasure to the music-lovers of Andover and vicinity. At the concert given two weeks ago the largest crowd of the season was present, the park and surrounding parking space being filled, offering evidence that these concerts have proven their worth and filled a void in summertime amusement and diversion in the town.

The management of the band have promised an exceptionally fine evening for lovers of band music.

The time of the concert has been advanced from eight o'clock, the usual time, to 7:30 o'clock.

The Chamber of Commerce have been highly commended for their interest and zeal in promoting these concerts and the committee wish to thank all those who have so generously contributed to the finances that have made them possible.

The committee that have had the concerts in charge the past two seasons are: Fred G. Cheney, chairman; William C. Crowley, treasurer; Frederic G. Moore, Harry J Hyland, Henry A. Bodwell and I. R. Kimball Frank C. Markey.

A Word for the Indian from Warren K. Moorehead

The following interesting statement by Prof. Warren K. Moorehead of the Department of Archaeology of Phillips Academy is taken from the Boston Transcript of August 29.

To the Editor of the Transcript:

I am sorry to see in your columns that Rev. Rudolph Hertz is concerned about the Pueblos. I returned from New Mexico two weeks ago, where I was in conference with the Pueblo Lands Board (now sitting to obtain justice for the Indians against Mexican squatters), Government officials, friends of the Indians and Santa Fe people who have known these natives for many years. The best posted person with reference to Pueblo customs is Dr. F. W. Hodge of the Museum of the American Indian, formerly of the Bureau of Ethnology. Dr. Hodge told me he wearied of trying to set certain of our good uplifters straight with reference to the secret societies of the Pueblo. Persons who would not for an instant attribute sinister motives to the Masons or other fraternities among white people imagine all sorts of wickedness in the underground kivas because they cannot enter them. The late James Mooney of the Smithsonian had similar trouble with certain persons with reference to Kiowa and Comanche cults. Mooney was removed from Oklahoma by force. I officially investigated the Oklahoma affair some years ago, and found that the contentions of Mooney were absolutely correct.

We have taken practically everything from our Indians—lands, health, means of livelihood, and happiness. We now propose to control their ancient dances and secret societies. I was told both in New Mexico and Oklahoma that there is no ban placed upon the Indians attending motion picture shows, where they see their white brothers and sisters doing things that no self-respecting Indian (in the "old days") would countenance. Also, that the educated boys and girls take part in modern dances where partners are closely held—a thing that does not occur in the Indian dances. I have not attended Indian dances in recent years, but beginning with the Ghost Dance at Pine Ridge, South Dakota, in 1890, which I personally saw—and coming down to 1915, I have never in all my travels seen one of these pagan dances. Those who are familiar with conditions in our cities and at resorts claim that the average social dance among Christian Americans needs reformation vastly more than the ancient ceremonies of our Red brothers. A New Jersey judge—my guest for some days last week—told me of conditions he had personally observed in Atlantic City this year, and recommended that modern Sodom as a fruitful field for missionary labors!

Human nature is the same—Indian or white. You will find a few "brothers" during every great benevolent order convention or assembly who cut up a little. So it is with Indians—young men may make sport of what are sacred things to the older people and they are disciplined. A young Pueblo assaulted an old Indian in one of the villages a few days ago. The old Indian was put in jail. The superintendent reversed the judgment. The Government officials today are able and fair men. They won't permit real "pagan dances," but also they do not intend to "take all the joy out of life." Severe sickness, spread of trachoma, etc., has been caused by moving these Pueblos out of their cool and comfortable adobe houses into a strange environment.

With the exception of Mr. Morrow and Father Ketcham of Oklahoma and Mr. Gilliflillian of Minnesota, I never knew any of the missionaries to put up a real and a man's fight for the rights of the Indians. There have been several bishops of the Episcopal Church who strove to obtain a square deal for our wards, but I did not know them although I have their books.

The Indian has heard of our religion for three centuries. He knows about our Bible. The reason—and the Indians tell me this on many reservations—he does not take to mission work to the extent we would like and why he prefers his old customs and ways is because he has no confidence in us. He knows that we go to church but permit our own race to swindle him out of his property. An Oklahoma bishop once stated at the Lake Mohonk Indian Conference that the white administrators and guardians of Indian estates needed a missionary far more than the Creeks, Cherokees, or others. That is absolutely true. I have urged that our Church organizations instruct their missionaries to protect their converts, to report the activities of such whites as seek to despoil. The priests really do take more of an interest in safeguarding Indian lands than do we Protestants. This question—protecting the Indians—is of vastly more import than that of dancing. No wonder the older Indians look forward to "going to the Spirit Land" where no white people live and where there will be no sickness, no poverty and no trouble such as they suffer at the present time.

Old Day Dodge was right when he said at White Earth to me in 1909: "You want us to go to church and be good, why don't you make the white grafters be good?"

WARREN K. MOOREHEAD,
Of the Board of Indian Commissioners, Washington, August 25.

SHUBERT

While progress on the new Shubert front is sufficiently advanced so that the opening of "The Student Prince" on Labor Day night would be possible, the Messrs. Shubert have thought it advisable to postpone the opening until September 21st, by which time they are assured that the present upset conditions of Tremont street itself will have sufficiently improved to afford patrons of the Shubert theatre a convenient approach to "The Student Prince." So the Messrs. Shubert's gorgeous production of "The Student Prince in Heidelberg," the greatest of all light operas and acclaimed the "perfect musical show," will positively open Monday night, September 21st.

This beautiful romantic story, fairly thrilling in many of its aspects, sprinkled with the most delicious comedy, reaching the pinnacle of artistry in its presentation and set to soul-stirring music, comes to Boston with an enviable record of success behind it. It is in its second year in New York City, 30 weeks in Chicago and has just closed a fourteen weeks' engagement in Philadelphia.

Never has there been so lavish an expenditure for staging, costuming and cast in a production of this kind. Never have there been evidences of so infinite care in the preparation of book, lyrics and score. The result is what critics and playgoers have pronounced it: the "most glorious musical play of the age."

More than 1,000,000 persons have seen and enjoyed to the fullest this wonderful entertainment that marks a new era and a new standard of operetta. The book and lyrics of "The Student Prince in Heidelberg" are by Dorothy Donnelly, the music is by Sigmund Romberg. They are the author and composer, respectively, of that other famous success, "Blossom Time," but, in this, their later work, each has surpassed all previous efforts. The company presenting this beautifully conceived operetta numbers, moreover, one hundred and fifty, and includes the most wonderful male chorus ever heard in any production, not excepting grand opera. The rendering of the student songs by this chorus sets the audience atingle. The entire production is under the supervision of J. J. Shubert.

In the cast are De Wolf Hopper, James Liddy, Odette Laudner, Lucyenne Heral, Eva Davenport, Betty Rand, Claire Carlton, Edward Sturley, Yvan Servais, John Adair, Rollin Grimes, Jr., Henry D. Goff, Eleanor Faron, Burton Lenihan, Harry Shackelford and Authur Albro.

PLYMOUTH

Local playgoers will have an opportunity at the Plymouth theatre, Boston, September 14, of seeing for the first time here, "The Gorilla," which scored a sensational success in New York, Chicago and London. It is a satirical mystery by Ralph Spence, who has contributed many hits to the "Follies" and other notable productions.

"The Gorilla" is a combination of mystery play,—shooting, secret panels, prowling gorillas, dangling skeletons, hidden stairways, trap doors, and what not. Its outstanding characters are Mr. Mulligan and Mr. Garrity, whose ludicrous bungling is a source of constant laughter. The presenting company is a capable one and the serious manner in which the members act their roles is a source of unrestrained merriment. It was the seriousness which characterized their work that made the New York and Chicago audiences roar with laughter. Starting in an eerie manner, the play works along legitimate lines until the two detectives appear and from that on it grows every minute funnier and funnier and more shockingly mysterious and melodramatic. With that for tension, the laughs become shouts, because most of them are developed under the most amazing conditions.

One does not have to exercise his brain matter to follow the plot of this play, but according to its New York and Chicago report, it is productive of perfect irresponsible fun. The play is produced by Donald Gallagher and is directed by Walter Scott. The same scenic equipment and effects which characterized the original production will be seen here. Among those who will enact the important roles are: Alf Helton, Byron Douglas, Winifred Lawshe, Nat Briggs, Edmund Elton, Harry Jenkins, Walter Plimer, Jr., Robert Hicks, Verne Drew, Frederick Conklin and others.

again take up their residence at Clement house. F. E. Newton, instructor in mathematics, who is enjoying his sabbatical year, left today for Oregon, where he will spend several months, returning East by way of California. Since the first of the month he has been sojourning with his family in Townshend, Vermont. During his absence the Hardy house will be occupied by Mr. Jacob. Charles Emerson Stone, teacher of French, will also enjoy a year's leave of absence.

Other changes in faculty residences include the transfer of Alan V. Heely from Williams hall to Bishop hall; Guy Forbush from Day to Bishop; and M. L. Shields from Day to Bancroft. Mr. Blackmer and Mr. Shepard will live at Day hall and Mr. Phinney at Williams.

The calendar for the first days of the school year 1925-1926 is as follows:

September 14, Monday, dormitories open for occupancy.

September 15, Tuesday, 9 a.m., chapel service followed by entrance examinations.

September 16, Wednesday, 7.45 a.m., regular work begins for the two lower classes.

September 17, Thursday, 7.45 a.m., regular work begins for the two upper classes.

ESSEX COUNTY AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL NOTES

The School will exhibit at the Greater Lynn Fair, September 9-12 inclusive, and the Topsfield Fair, September 16-19 inclusive.

E. E. Metcalf of Saugus, is chairman of the committee on school exhibits and has his plans for both fairs well under way.

Camp Bauer Baseball

The Camp Bauer team received its greatest defeat of the season at the hands of a fast team representing Asbury Grove. The Camp team has several wins to its credit as it has defeated Byfield, Essex Sanatorium, and the Men's Methodist Union. This week the boys played a return game with the Industrial farm.

Extension Notes

Application for Extension Classes for women are being received at the office of the County Home Demonstration Agent. The classes open the first of October. Five projects are offered to the homemakers: Garment-making, millinery, study of foods, kitchen improvement, and household accounts.

Work carried in the garment-making and millinery classes needs little explanation as these have always been popular subjects. This year preparations have been made to organize work in children's clothes and for advanced work renovation in garment-making and millinery.

Those who feel the need of help in planning and preparing meals that will keep the family well and happy will be interested in the study of foods. This project consists of five meetings, when the time is divided between the study of the best foods for the family and the actual preparation of meals.

If one is perplexed by the finances of the home, she will be interested in the household-account project. This consists of five meetings where the family budget is discussed.

Is the kitchen poorly arranged? If so, the kitchen-improvement project will prove helpful. If any homemaker is interested to become a member of any of these projects, she may obtain information from her town chairman, or the home demonstration agent.

The New Class

Class room work was resumed on Tuesday, September 8, in the Agricultural and Homemaking departments of the School. The new entering class in the agricultural department numbers fifty and is divided into three groups. The students come from every section of the county, nearly every town and city being represented by at least one.

During the first week an interesting series of questions, problems, and contests will be worked out for the purpose of determining the extent of the student's knowledge of agriculture upon entrance.

In the Homemaking department the girls will enter at once into the work of canning fruits and vegetables in addition to other school studies.

Poultry Division Notes

During the past month, work has progressed satisfactorily on the two pens being added to the Amherst-type laying house. These pens are each 20x20 and will hold 100 birds each, completing the plan started two years ago to remodel and enlarge the plant, giving it a capacity of 1000 layers.

The roof of fireproof strip shingles has been laid, the walls boarded, the flooring completed, and the first coat of paint applied. The building is now ready for the interior fixtures—dropping boards, roosts, nests, etc.

Housing Pullets

This past week, 175 Rhode Island Red Pullets which have matured on the range have been housed, being banded and blue-buttered first. These birds are in fine condition and are coming into laying nicely. At present, about 250 pullets are housed in their winter quarters; Reds, Barred Rocks, and White Leghorns.

Mangels for the Layers

The poultry division has purchased from the Farm Division a fine field of mangel-wurtzel beets, and as there are more than can be used this winter, have started to feed them each day to the layers. By starting now, the benefit of the succulent leafy tops is obtained. Later cabbage will be fed and the balance of the beets kept for winter use. The Market Garden Division is growing the cabbage for the poultry plant.

4-H Club Notes

Preparations for the 4-H Club Exhibits at Topsfield Fair are being made. The Junior exhibits are 98% 4-H Club Work, so when one looks over the boys' and girls' exhibits at Topsfield, it must be largely credited to this practical work.

There will be an interesting 4-H Club Exhibit as part of the school display. This will again bring to public notice that this extensive work is one of the school's extension activities.

Representatives of Essex County's 4-H Club Work will attend the Eastern States Exposition and the Brockton Fair to take part in 4-H Club Work.

Rutabaga's Introduction

The rutabaga is said to have been introduced into Scotland about 1781-82, and into England in 1790. It is mentioned in 1806 by MacMahon as in American gardens, and in 1817 there is a record of an acre of the crop in Illinois. The vernacular names all indicate an origin in Sweden or northern Europe. It is sometimes called hanover, as one variety was grown in Hanover, Germany.

BE SURE YOUR CAR IS RIGHT

Neglecting the Little Things Has Caused Much Damage

Don't save your life on the highways and lose it in the byways, advises the A. L. A. In other words, although you are a careful driver and safely and successfully travel the main thoroughfares of State or nation, don't get the notion that you can relax your vigilance in the little things of life. The bit of soap carelessly left on the bottom of the bathtub has been the cause of many broken bones and bad sprains and even the loss of life. The neglected pin prick or that of the rusty nail has resulted in many amputations of legs and arms. The unsteady stepladder or rocking chair used as a means of hanging pictures have made thousands of cripples or worse, while the carelessly placed bottle of medicine and the matches left within reach of little hands have made of many homes, houses of mourning.

Respect the little things. In dozens of different ways serious personal injuries and sickness may be prevented.

So in driving, safety very largely depends in anticipating. No one would start out with a flat tire, or an empty gas tank, but many do undertake a trip without knowing how good the tires are or without looking over and making such adjustments as are absolutely necessary for a safe journey; that is, safe for the upkeep of the car which means a cash saving and perhaps safety from accidents. Every part of a car is essential for its perfect operation. Neglect has ruined more cars than use, and neglect has been the direct cause of very many accidents. A human being can adjust himself to unusual conditions, a mechanical invention no matter how perfectly it runs in operation cannot do so.

If the headlights are not focused correctly or give insufficient light by no process yet in use do they, of themselves, get back to normal. Poor light as well as too much light in the wrong place and at the wrong time is an accident hazard. Weak brakes or brakes out of adjustment leave the driver helpless in an emergency. The driver who "thumbs up" a loose nut because it is too much trouble to open his kit for a wrench, is taking a chance with one of the small, perhaps unimportant things, but which frequently lead to his taking the same chance when something of more importance shows up and he lets it go till he has more time.

The man who takes the most pleasure and who gets the largest amount of business profit out of his car is usually the one who appreciates good performance. And good performance by his car most always means good driving by its master. Any old rattle-to-bang car will answer the purpose of the careless fellow.

We are pleased to state that nowhere in Essex County are there any better (if as good) roads than right here in the Andovers.

We don't know the road commissioner, but whoever he is, he knows how to build good roads and keep them good. Undoubtedly he puts his whole heart and soul into his work, just as we do in baking pageantry as Professor George Baker of Yale University.

ABBOT ACADEMY OPENS

Miss Hammond comes to Abbot with an unusual equipment, and will give the school the benefit of her wide and successful experience.

Miss Nora Sweeney, who has been in charge of the work in Physical Education, for the past two years, has resigned he position in order to take a period of rest. Miss Sweeney is herself an Abbot girl and her able and efficient conduct of the department makes her loss most regrettable.

Miss Sweeney's work will be taken by Miss Mary Carpenter, a graduate of the Boston School of Physical Education. Miss Carpenter taught for a time in Sweet Briar College, Virginia, and later in the Martha Washington Seminary, Washington, D. C. She comes to Abbot with high endorsements, and will be an able member of the staff.

The school regrets the loss of Miss Miriam Hague, Instructor in Science. Miss Hague became during the summer the wife of Nelson Montgomery of Buffalo, New York, and is now at the head of her own home there.

Some of the work that has been in Miss Hague's charge will be carried by Miss Bertha Grimes who returns to Abbot on a full-time schedule. It will be pleasant to have Miss Grimes once more a resident of the school.

Miss Doris McDuffee, of Alton, New Hampshire, a graduate of Boston University in 1924, will also assist in Science and in some of the work of the language departments. Miss McDuffee has also much musical ability. Her instrument is the violoncello, and she will be a member of the school orchestra.

It may be noted here that Miss Ruth Masters, teacher of violoncello, has been associated with the Music department of the Academy since last spring. Miss Masters will be at the school one day each week, probably Friday.

If the time of Miss Nichols, teacher of Violin, and of Miss Masters is not wholly filled by pupils who are members of the school, outside pupils will be accepted by them. It is hoped that those interested will avail themselves of this excellent opportunity of receiving instruction from teachers of distinction.

An interesting program of lectures and concerts is being arranged for the school year. It is hoped that Andover people will share these opportunities and will plan to include them in their winter programs.

The record of Abbot Academy candidates in the College Board Entrance Examinations is gratifying. There were very few failures either in preliminary or final examinations, and many high averages. Only one candidate for admission to college this year was rejected—a one-year girl whose work was much interrupted by illness during the year. Among Andover girls who made specially high averages in preliminary examinations are Lucy Sanborn, Edda Renouf, June Hinman and Patricia Goodwillie.

Returned on the Scythia

A group of Andover people who have been spending the summer at their old homes in Scotland, returned home on the S. S. Scythia on Saturday, landing in Boston. They were Mrs. Jane Hackney, Mrs. Robert Low, Miss Helen Mollison, Miss Eliza Mollison, Mrs. Thomas MacLeish and Miss Sadie MacLeish.

Miss MacLeish, who is prominent in Guild sports here in town was the winner in the potato race which was one of the games on board ship and received a very pretty clock. Miss MacLeish returned to her work Tuesday at the Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance company.

Looking Back Twenty-five Years

O. P. Chase was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the Chase-Chace family association at the reunion last week.

Miss Sarah Saunders has returned to her home in town after an extended trip to England, Scotland and France.

About twenty young people enjoyed a hay-rack ride to Haggett's pond on Labor Day evening. Boating was an attraction after arriving at the pond.

Frank Perkins, formerly of this place, son of N. B. Perkins of Tewksbury, has entered Bryant & Stratton's commercial college, Boston.

Cecil K. Bancroft, instructor at Yale college, won a championship cup in a golf tournament on the Mont Vernon, N. H., golf links.

Peter Smith, son of B. Frank Smith, has been spending the past week and a half on an automobile trip with Boston friends through the eastern part of the state.

E. M. and N. A. Allen have put in trip books on the Boston & Maine railroad between Reading and Boston which may be hired. By using one of them one may go to Boston from the top of the hill for twenty-five cents, ten cents on the L. & R. electric road, and fifteen cents for one fare on the Boston & Maine.

Miss Alice Dennison of Melrose is visiting friends in town this week.

Among those to whom the beauty and delightsomeness of Haggett's pond has held forth allurements this summer are George A. Christie, foreman of the Andover Press, Mrs. Christie and son, William C. Coutts, William M. David, Misses Alice, Bertha and Mary T. Coutts, Mr. and Mrs. John Gordon and Miss Jennie Gordon, and Walter Holt who are spending the week in camp there.

Postmaster Arthur Bliss and family have been taking a few days' outing at Stiles pond, Boxford.

Miss Mary Hurley has returned to her position as day operator at the telephone exchange.

Dr. Shattuck's fishing party went out from Swampscott and had fine luck, catching over 2,000 pounds of fish.

Arthur Morse, clerk at Ira Buxton's, who is taking his vacation this week, is spending a few days in Portland in company with Joseph Pitman.

F. E. Gleason, accompanied Bethany Commandery on their trip to Lake Sebago.

John L. Smith of the firm of Smith & Manning, spent several days in Pittsfield recently. His brother, ex-Chief Engineer David Smith, U. S. N., returned with him.

George Lawson, night operator at the telephone exchange, cut a bad gash in his leg by falling on a scythe while riding on a hay rack a day or two ago. Several stitches were taken in the wound. His place at central is being taken by Fred Collins.

A party of young men from town spent Sunday on a yachting trip on the schooner, "Nellie G," skipper, Captain Murch, in and near Boston harbor. The party was composed of Clinton M. Pomeroy, Charles A. Hill, Harry F. Holt, Benjamin Smith, Jr., Thomas Lynan, Walter M. Lamont, Henry A. Bodwell and Ernest Johnson, the latter of Lawrence. Some of the party went out again on Monday with Charlestown friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. White entertained a number of young friends at their residence off Mineral street. Games, music and various forms of amusement caused the hours to pass only too rapidly. Refreshments were served during the evening. Among those present were the Misses Laura and Helen Mills of Medford, Miss Lottie Baker, Stanley Pratt, Miss Sallie Pratt, James and Chester Abbott, the Misses Abbott and George Lawson.

John Nice has returned from a vacation at Block Island.

Miss Nellie F. Flint was in town from Newcastle, N. H., on Tuesday.

Mrs. H. E. Burtt and Miss M. Winnie Burtt spent Sunday and Labor day in Waltham.

W. H. Gibson, proprietor of the Andover Steam laundry, is enjoying a well earned vacation at Hampton Beach.

E. E. Trefry resumed work at J. H. Campion & Co.'s store on Tuesday having returned from a two weeks' vacation spent in the Provinces.

Mrs. David Lindsay with her son and daugther, Roy and Flora, have gone to Salisbury Beach, where they will enjoy the ocean breezes for a week.

Miss Lizzie Affleck, the bookkeeper at the "Corner Grocery," has returned from a lengthy vacation of two months which she spent in Nova Scotia.

Robert M. McCurdy has arrived in Andover after a lengthy trip abroad with a number of Harvard students. Most of the time was spent in England and Germany.

Miss Annie F. Prescott, bookkeeper at Tuttle & Morrison's, Miss Lillian Prescott of Malden, and George B. Prescott, a popular clerk in O. P. Chase's news store, have left on their bicycles for Exeter, N. H., where they will spend a week.

Not many alterations or changes have been made on the exterior or interior of the various school buildings, but there are several changes to chronicle in the teaching force. Superintendent Johnson told the Townsman correspondent the following: Miss Florence Ash of Lisbon, N. H., takes the seventh grade of the Stowe school, superseding Miss Katherine Robinson; Miss Carrie G. Hill of Lee, N. H., takes the place of Miss Frances I. Brown in the sixth grade, Stowe. Miss Bessie M. Holt will teach in the West Centre school in place of Miss Grace Burnham; Miss Grace E. Feeney goes to the Abbott school in place of Miss Eva Stone; Miss Cecilia Kydd has the Scotland District school, taking the place of Miss Marion Paine, who has been transferred to the Osgood school. Miss Bertha E. Miacum will not return as she is ill and Miss Florence Durand will not teach as she is soon to be married. The school committee have taken a decided stand on the long discussed Holt school question and have closed it for the year. Arrangements for the two or three scholars will be made in the other schools of the town where it is believed that the instruction in larger classes is sure to be more valuable.

James Ross, a machinist at the Tyer Rubber shop, fell through a trap door on the third floor of the new part of the Tyer Rubber company's works, striking on his head, and was instantly killed.

The neighbors of Lucy A. French, residing with her sister at the corner of Main and Morton streets, called upon her in an informal way, on Wednesday evening, that being her seventy-fifth birthday. The occasion was made still more pleasant by the presence of her nieces, Mrs. J. H. Babbitt of West Brattleboro, Vt., and Mrs. F. E. Clark of Auburndale. Dr. and Mrs. Clark, with Master Harold, had arrived the day before from Liverpool, ending their long and eventful journey around the world, with its memorable experiences of escape from China and the forty days' tour through Siberia.

On Sunday morning occurred the death of a highly respected citizen of this place, James N. Smart, at his home on Gardner avenue in the Scotland district.

Beginning next Sunday afternoon, fortnightly services in Swedish are to be held in the Free church vestry for the Swedish residents of Andover. Pastor Holmblod of Malden will conduct them.

Mr. and Mrs. T. U. Purington of Bethel, Maine, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Alice E., to John V. Holt of this place. Mr. Holt is the son of Librarian Holt and is employed by Lee, Higginson & Co., of Boston, with whom he has been for a little over a year. Miss Purington is a graduate of Abbot academy, Class of 1895.

Over 200 employees of Smith & Dove mills and their friends enjoyed an outing at Lynn Beach last Saturday, the plant having shut down until after Labor Day. The trip was to have been made by electrics, but a breakage of the Lawrence & Reading road necessitated a change of plans, so that the picnickers went by the Boston & Maine to Reading and thence by trolley to the beach.

Portions of the West Parish are to have a free collection and delivery of mail matter. The service will begin Saturday, September 15.

School street residents are up in arms over the suggestion of a street railway track from the hill to the Square through their borders, and they ought to be. The beauties of School street as a residential street need no parading before the Andover public in urging its preservation from electric poles and wires. There may be citizens who can see the necessity of a new route, but we have yet to hear any such expression. The feeling is apparently universal that both roads, the L. L. & H and the Reading and Lawrence, should use the same track from the hill to the square, and that the selectmen should be firm in securing such a result. Meanwhile in the consideration of the new proposition, there seems to be the same old tendency to insist upon the "track to the railroad station" rider. Let every road stand upon its own merits, and let the one test for any and all be the best good of the large number, preserving at all times the beauty and charm of the town we all love, but dealing justly and fairly with every force that makes for real growth and progress. (Editorial).

Evening School to Open at Lawrence Y. M. C. A.

The Evening School promoted by the Industrial Department of the Lawrence Y. M. C. A. will begain the fall term Monday evening, September 28, at 7.30. This will be the sixth year of these evening study courses with an attendance the past five years of over 2500 students and an average age of twenty-nine years.

It is the policy of the Department to furnish an opportunity to that large group of ambitious students who are seeking self-improvement along cultural or trade lines, this opportunity to be furnished at the greatest convenience and at a minimum cost. It is an endeavor to give a chance for many to fill out little defects in their educational equipment which helps them to be more efficient in their positions and prepare them for advancement. It seeks to encourage those following home-study courses by furnishing them one night each week the inspiration of a good teacher to direct and correct their work.

These studies act as finding courses to many a student who is trying to locate himself in a vocation, or work out of an uncongenial occupation. They are used by many as mental simulus to tone up their intellectual life, and keep them from the atrophy of misuse or abuse of mental faculties. In other words to keep them intellectually fit.

The course in Gasoline Automobiles will be on the construction and operation of the automobile for owners and operators. New equipment of over 500 still pictures will be used to demonstrate the different parts of the automobile. Cutaway motors, charts, and motion pictures will likewise be used to make clear to the student what makes the wheels go around.

These courses are open to men and women—no required membership. The cost of the courses is $5.00 a term of 12 weeks, textbooks extra.

Inquire of G. Edgar Folk, Industrial Secretary, Y. M. C. A., regarding these evening study courses.

Police Court News

Fred Richards of South Main street was fined $50 for driving under the influence of liquor, in police court, Wednesday afternoon by Judge C. J. Stone. Richards pleaded not guilty to the charge but was found guilty and the fine was imposed.

Coloring Hydrangeas

The color of the flowers of the shiny-leaf hydrangeas is variable and seems to be dependent on the acidity or alkalinity of the soil. An abundance of lime produces pink in the flowers, while blue is produced by acid conditions which may be augmented by the use of alum, rusty iron or iron filings. Too much lime will check the growth of the plants and cause a yellowing. Treatment for any effect needs to be begun a year before the result is desired.

School Days

The coming of September means for all our children and most of our young people a termination of summer activities and a return to the several places of study.

Pupils and students have the widest conceivable range of activities during the summer months. The smaller ones have for the most part been playing and swimming nearby, while the older students were mostly away, either at some camp or at work. But summer work and play are now over and all those who left home have been returning to prepare for school days.

Our high school has already opened. There, under the discipline of their teachers, the students acquire facts, develop methods of thought and form character—all of which will shape the future lives of these young citizens. Facts can be forgotten over night and re-acquired in a moment; habits of thought and character, however, are permanent and vital qualities. That these should be of the right sort is the most valuable contribution which the Commonwealth can give to its leaders of the future; because, for many students, formal education ends with high school.

Within a fwe days the graded school doors will open. Into these will turn all our young, from the littlest savage of six to the already initiated pupil of thirteen or fourteen. If the formation of right habits of thought and conduct are important in high school, they are doubly so here, where the children are much more impressionable. In the grades certain fundamental facts are taught which every child may well be expected to remember. It is fully as important, though, that they should learn to concentrate: to think clearly and without mental interruption on a given subject.

The two private schools which give so much prestige to Andover also are soon to open. These are institutions of the first order, whose function is to prepare young men and women, most of them from out of town, for college work, although one is also a finishing school. The return of these students will serve to liven this town greatly, keeping it well supplied with young blood. Andover may well consider itself privileged in being in a position to attract so many out-of-town students to its private schools. Their coming here is always looked upon with eager interest.

The opening of the school year is not of importance to the students alone. For young and old alike are interested in the sports that go hand in hand with school work. Already football togs are being brought out from hidden corners and pigskins are soaring into the early-autumn skies. In this respect the beginning of the school year will be welcomed by every resident who has the slightest trace of sporting blood in him.

Graded school children, high school students, private school students, and residents here, young and old alike—all look upon the opening of school with joy.

Editorial Cinders

Our Town Hall has for some years been sorely in need of repainting. It is with a great deal of satisfaction, therefore, that townspeople will note that a fresh coat of paint is being applied to the walls of our municipal building.

It cost the State in the vicinity of two hundred dollars to put out a brush fire which started in Andover almost two weeks ago. This is a tremendous price to pay for the carelessness of some blueberry picker, not to mention the danger and the work involved. The coming of dry leaves and the shooting season demand painstaking care with fires and cigarettes on the part of those who tramp through our woods.

A word of caution to young children walking to school is fitting at this time of the year. A great deal has been said about the carelessness of the motorist when children have been struck. But the little tots should be told how and where to cross the streets while on their way to school, for they, too, are often not careful while in the road.

W. J. Morrissey Files Bill Against John McDonough

A bill in equity has been filed in the superior court at Salem by Walter J. Morrissey of Andover against John McDonough of Andover. The bill states that on July 12, 1922 the plaintiff was the owner of 37,000 feet of land with buildings on Park street, Andover. He conveyed 27,000 to the respondent retaining a triangular piece containing 10,000 feet with a large garage in the rear of the lot. The plaintiff has continued to use this building as a public taxi garage.

As there was no other outlet to the street he passed over a section of the respondent's land 10 feet wide, using in all 300 square feet.

Recently the respondent has begun to build across this way and cut off the plaintiff's approach to his land. The plaintiff asks the court to establish a right of way by necessity and to enjoin the respondent from proceeding to block it.

An order to show cause has been issued, returnable at Lawrence, September 14, at 10 a.m. There is a temporary restraining order in the meantime.

Punchard Has Large Entering Class

Punchard High school opened its doors Wednesday with the largest registration ever yet recorded, 273 pupils being entered during the opening session. It is expected that before the end of next week, the registration will be nearly 300.

One hundred and eight of the 115 pupils who were graduated in June from the Stowe school have entered Punchard, and this is the largest freshman class ever entering the school.

The sophomore class has 65 members; the junior class 55, and the senior class 37. This is a smaller senior class than last year when an even 50 were graduated in June. There are eight special scholars.

There are no changes in the teaching force this year, and all the teachers were on hand to greet the pupils and settle them down to routine work. Although the schedule will not be complete until next week, there has been a fine start made for the school year.

The football schedule has been made out and Coach Lovely will call out candidates for teams next Monday. Other athletics will follow, the girls being eager to have a crack basketball team this year. There is some splendid material for athletics and the freshman class will probably furnish a large number of entrants for future teams.

Knights of Columbus Carnival

Tonight will see the close of what will prove to be a four-day instead of a three-day carnival, held on the Playstead under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus and Catholic Daughters of America. Having been hampered by rain and cold weather, it was decided to continue the affair, awarding the major prizes this evening. The only prize awarded last evening was the centre-piece on Mrs. Lynch's table which was won by Raymond Platt of Ballardvale.

An unusually attractive and varied array of prizes tempted the nickels and dimes from the pockets of those who attended, and blankets, towels, aluminum ware, clocks, carving sets, pictures, fitted suit cases, toilet sets, safety razors, flasks, trays, tea sets, and after dinner coffee set, cocktail set, and ice water pitchers, flasks, safety razor, cigarette case, and gay parasols were carried home by the more fortunate.

The clown band attired in fantastic costumes, enlivened the grounds and advertised the affair further afield. Included among its members were William Dolan, George Markey, William Sutcliffe, Frank Markey, Thomas and James Darby, Neil Cussen and Robert Wilson.

The prizes to be awarded tonight are a radio, a washing machine, vacuum cleaner, a ton of coal, a barrel of flour, a ten-dollar gold piece, and a five-dollar gold piece.

The English Tea

The menu for the English Tea which will be held in connection with the Country Fair and Garden Party on Wednesday, September 16, makes one's mouth water. Cold meats, salads, pickles, buttered tea cakes, jams, jellies, bread and butter, tea and all kinds of little cakes and tarts.

The supper will be held in the Parish house from five until seven.

House Ransacked

The house of Mrs. Douglas Crawford was found in a state of disorder when the family returned the first week in September, the house having been closed for the summer.

Nothing of value was found to be missing. Children's banks had been broken into and it was evident that a hammer had been used in breaking open a drawer. A Jesse James novel was left behind by the intruders which leads the police to believe that the mischief was the work of boys.

Alvah Wright of Salem street was awarded the transportation contract, he being the lowest bidder among three for the contract. Wright contracted to do the transporting of the school children for the sum of $2,900. Other bidders were Walter Morrissey and Edward Grant of Ballardvale.

Mr. Wright has purchased a new Reo truck which is to be used in the transporting of the children from their homes to school. It is splendidly equipped for the purpose. The truck is furnished with heat, and adequate facilities for personal comfort.

Obituaries

REV. WILLIAM WALTON NASON

The life on earth of William Walton Nason ended in Reading, Mass., Monday evening, September 7, after an illness of several weeks.

He was the third son of the late Rev. Elias Nason, preacher, author and lecturer, and was born in Newburyport, Mass., January 28th, 1848.

His early days were spent in Natick, Medford, and Exeter, N. H., where his father had pastorates. After a short business experience in Chicago he decided to enter the ministry and studied in Andover Theological Seminary with the class of 1878.

For several years he preached in Gowanda, N. Y., Newfane, Vt., and in the Central and First Congregational Churches of Dracut, Mass., and then retired to Billerica where the remainder of his life was spent with the exception of a short residence in Media, Penn., and his last three years in Reading.

From both parents he inherited strong literary tastes and he was gifted in the power of expressing his thoughts attractively in prose and in poetry.

His love of music and of out-of-door life added greatly to his enjoyment, and his unselfish, kindly spirit, fidelity and high character won the warm esteem of his parishioners and fellow citizens.

On January 4th, 1882, he married Kate Julia Hooker of Gowanda, N. Y., who survives him with five children, viz.—Gertrude Julia Nason of Boston, Walton Hooker Nason of Ardmore, Penn., Thomas Willoughby Nason of Boston, Mrs. Kathryn Nason Piston now in Paris, France, and Florence Emily Nason of Reading. He leaves also three grandchildren, one brother, Rev. Charles P. H. Nason D.D. of Philadelphia, and two sisters, Mrs. Emily Nason Gerrish of Exeter, N. H., and Mrs. Frederick A. Wilson of Andover, Mass.

The funeral service was held in Reading, Wednesday afternoon, and was conducted by Rev. J. Harold Dale of Billerica.

A hymn of special appropriateness written in 1897 by Mr. Nason himself was read with some of his favorite passages of scripture, and a friend sang "Hark, hark my soul, angelic songs are swelling" and "Now the day is over."

His sons and his nephew, Rev. Frederick C. Wilson, acted as bearers. The burial was in the Nason family lot in Billerica.

MRS. LUCY DERBY FULLER

Lucy Derby Fuller, wife of Samuel Richard Fuller, and daughter of the late Elias Hasket Derby of Boston, died at Nantucket, September 3, 1925.

Funeral services were held in Christ church, Saturday, September 5. Interment in Christ church yard.

Boston & Maine Petitions to Operate Bus Line

Petitions by the Boston and Maine Transportation Company for the operation of a motor coach service between Lawrence, Andover, Tewksbury and Lowell, along the south bank of the Merrimac River, were filed with the City and Town governments in each of these places yesterday.

The petitions follow similar applications by the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company, and by individual operators.

In a statement calling attention to the fact that the Boston and Maine Railroad's line between Lawrence and Lowell, already seriously affected by the use of automobiles, would suffer further by such a duplication of facilities in other hands, it was announced that the Boston and Maine Transportation Company stands ready to supply a motor coach service if the communities feel that such added transportation is necessary.

"The Boston and Main Railroad is interested in continuing its transportation service between Lawrence and Lowell. In any consideration of changing or supplementing the present form of service, the Railroad submits that it is the logical agency to be authorized to supply any new facilities. The proposed routes invade the territory south of the river where the Boston and Maine line has long been operated.

"Accordingly, the Boston and Maine Transportation Company, as the automotive auxiliary of the Railroad, has filed with the Mayors and City Councils of Lowell and of Lawrence, and with the Selectmen of the towns of Andover and of Tewksbury, petitions for the right to operate motor coaches in and between those places.

"If these communities desire motor coach service, we feel the Boston and Maine Transportation Company is the organized medium which should be approved."

Town Hall Being Repainted

In accordance with a vote at the annual town meeting in March the interior of the town hall is being repainted. This much needed work is being done by James H. Clifford of Lawrence and it is expected it will be done within a week or ten days.

The color scheme is to be the same as before, buff walls being judged the best. The decorating also goes well with the new curtain placed last year on the stage. The walls and wood work of the main hall, the ceiling, and side walls of the corridor and the stairways are all receiving new coats of paint, and the ante-rooms are also being done over.

Deciding Game of Series Saturday

The deciding game of the series between the Hardy and Ross and Court Lincoln teams of the Intermediate league for the championship of the second half will be played at Grogan's field Saturday. Rival managers tossed the coin at the Intermediate league meeting on Tuesday night and Court Lincoln won the toss, they choosing their home field. A large contingent of rooters will accompany the local lads to North Andover to witness the contest.

"School Bell Sickness"

A dramatic entertainment was the attraction at a neighborhood gathering held Tuesday evening on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Buttrick of Wolcott avenue. Several of the young people prepared the program and invited their elders to enjoy it on the payment of a small admission fee.

A play entitled "School Bell Sickness" was presented with the following cast: "The Child," Helen Buttrick; "The Doctor" Dorothy Wade; "The Mother," Clare O'Connell. Constance Wade acted as announcer and Barbara Lord as the stage manager. While waiting for nature to temper the stage illumination so that a series of shadowgraphs could be presented, there was a bean-guessing contest, in which John F. O'Connell was the winner.

The shadowgraphs included, "Mother Goose," "Bo Peep," "Tom Sawyer and Betty," "Little Red Ridinghood," "Penrod," "Little Women," "Little Jack Horner" "Mary, Mary Quite Contrary," "Dr. Foster," "Ten O'Clock Scholar." Frances McTernen guessed the largest number of pictures and Polly Hadley was second in the contest.

Among those present were Mrs. Wright Stafford, Mrs. Wilfred Lord, Mr. and Mrs. John F. O'Connell, Miss Helen Donald, Miss Martha Buttrick, Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Buttrick, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Wade, Mrs. John F. McDonough, Mrs. Stanley Hickok, Miss Shea, Barbara Hickok, Margaret Sparks, Mrs. Ralph Hadley, Mary Patridge, Marion Coutts, Ruth Stafford, Lindal Lawson, Frances McTernen, Allan Buttrick, Edwin Hadley and Preston Wade.

BARNARD — DIXON

Among the early September weddings was that of Miss Elizabeth Fairweather Dixon of West Newton and Foster C. Barnard, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Barnard of this town, which took place at Grace church, Newton, on Tuesday evening. Rev. Laurens MacLure, D.D., rector of the church, officiated. The decorations at the church were palms, gladioli and asters.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Anna Dixon and the late Clarence H. Dixon, was given in marriage by Dr. Frank R. Clark of Newtonville. She wore a gown of white, beaded georgette cut en train, with a tulle veil held in place by a coronet of lace and pearls, and carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Olive Larkin of Auburndale, was attired in pink taffeta and tulle with a hat to match. The bridesmaids, Miss Mabel Humphrey of Brockton and Miss Winifred MacNaughton of Methuen, wore gowns of georgette and velvet, Miss MacNaughton's of yellow and Miss Humphrey's of blue, with large velvet hats to match. The bride's attendants all carried bouquets of Ophelia roses and larkspur.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, William Shirley Barnard of this town. The group of ushers included Arthur W. Cole of Andover, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, H. Franklin Horne of South Lawrence, Norwell Kinney of Methuen and Dr. Erskine R. Pickwick of Boston.

To the Editor of The Andover Townsman:

Through your paper I should like to thank the Pomp's Pond Committee and the Selectmen for placing Mr. Frank McBride in charge of the swimming beach this summer.

It has always been the desire of the City Missionary Society that the beach at Pomp's Pond should be a recreation place of the finest moral standards where the most scrupulous families of the town could be free to bring their children. Mr. McBride has made this possible. By his hard work, knowledge of the town, and firmness combined with courtesy, he has done a piece of work that deserves the highest commendation.

Our counsellors at Camp Andover have watched it with delight, and as neighbors we want to express our appreciation.

It is altogether likely that the same set of buildings could be developed into warming houses for skating, and that toboggan slides, curling courts, and facilities for other winter sports can be instituted that will minister greatly to the health and joy of the people of Andover. Later on other features can be developed which will make it an all year round playground.

In my experience the whole success or failure of an undertaking depends upon the person in charge. So far as I have been able to observe, Mr. McBride has the qualities of an unusual public servant to whom we can all look with absolute confidence as a leader in such enlarging work.

I certainly am delighted to express the entire satisfaction of the City Missionary Society with the way affairs have been managed this year, and our thorough good will and desire to cooperate in the larger uses which many of us have seen as possibilities in this delightful location.

Sincerely yours,
FLETCHER D. PARKER

Two New Deacons Elected

Owing to the increasing size of the church membership and to aid the older members who are deacons in the Free church, two new deacons were elected Wednesday evening at the mid-week service of the church. They are Lewis Paine and James Gillespie, Jr. Both have been officials in the church as ushers or in the Sunday school, and their appointment was approved by the delegation of about thirty members who were present at the meeting.

STRIKE HANGS FIRE

the return of the 10 per cent cut, but are willing and ready to take up after you return to work, department by department, all the minor grievances and adjust them to your mutual satisfaction.

In particular, we are ready to increase the rate for ordinary labor to forty-one cents per hour and to pay time and one-half to the Machine Shop for all work after 6.00 p.m. We are also ready to adjust rates in any department where they are out of line with rates in other departments.

It would be almost impossible to adjust all these matters before you return to work and in any case it would require at least two weeks. Meanwhile you would be idle with no pay coming in. We feel that you should trust to our sense of fairness to adjust these matters satisfactorily and any adjustments that are finally agreed on will be made to date back to the time you return to work.

We will take back all of our former employees without discrimination on account of strike activities, but will not discharge any person working for us at the time of the return of our employees to work.

Smith and Dove Manufacturing Co.
by H. A. BODWELL,
Treas. and General Manager

September 10, 1925

The demands drawn up by the strike committee sept 4, 1925, are as follows:

1. All workers want back the 10 per cent cut in wages. Ans.—This is taken care of in our general statement.

2. Glazing—Day workers want time and a quarter for overtime — want pay for cleaning up and cutting of large knots. Night workers want one-half hour off with pay. Ans.—These items have been considered in increases made in the rates in this department.

3. Dry twisting—Paid while waiting for work and cleaning. Night workers want more pay for separate machines. Ans.—Rates will be refigured and allowances made for cleaning — either in the price rates or paid straight hourly rate for necessary cleaning time. Adjustments will be made for operating machines in other than the regular way, so that average earnings can be maintained.

4. Winding—Want fair distribution of work — better adjustment for piece workers. Ans.—Rates will be refigured, allowances made for changes, small lots, and samples, so that average earnings can be maintained.

5. Dry Spinning—Want day pay for samples, also day pay while waiting for work or broken machines. Ans.—Adjustments will be made for samples and small lots, so that average earnings can be maintained. Adjustments will also be made for broken machines and excessive waiting for work.

6. Card room—Want pay while machines are standing or go home — readjustments in wages over 10 per cent. Ans.—Rates for card feeders have been increased and adjustments will be made on piece workers for excessive waits for work, so that average earnings can be maintained.

7. Balling room—Want pay for cleaning up. Ans.—Rates will be refigured, and cleaning time will be figured in the rates, or allowed for at day pay.

8. Press room—Want pay while waiting for work. Ans.—Will endeavor as far as possible to find work for operatives at day rates, while waiting for piece work.

9. Shipping room—The discharge of Harry Dill and Arthur Marselle. Ans.—We are making no discrimination in taking back anyone who went out on strike, nor will we discriminate against anyone who remained at work, or who came to work after the strike started.

10. Shipping — pay for overtime. Ans.—All work in this department from starting time in the morning until 6 p.m., will be paid at regular day rates, any work after 6 p.m. up to starting time in the morning will be paid six cents per hour extra.

11. Batch house—Day's pay for day's work. Ans.—Present rates show earnings of approximately forty-five cents an hour in this department. Rates will be refigured, and the blowing of tow to the card room will be paid on day wage and the results of the week's work will be handed to the men on Monday of the following week. The work will be figured up daily as far as possible.

12. Hackling Machine Dept.—Ought to be paid for cutting laps which takes about three hours a week. Ans.—We are allowing at the present time three hours for cleaning time, and cutting all laps will be done during working hours at the discretion of the overseer, and paid for at forty-one cents an hour.

13. Wet Spinning—Ought to be paid for waiting for broken machine, or go home. Ans.—Adjustments will be made, so that operatives will not be penalized on their average earnings for broken machines.

14. Damp Spinning—Want to be paid for changing roving — paid for samples — also paid for waiting while broken machinery is being fixed. Ans.—Changing roving is figured in piece rates and adjustments will be made for sample and small lots, also for broken machinery, so that average earnings may be maintained until the machine is fixed.

15. Flax preparing—Want pay for cleaning — not to be responsible for broken fallers when the machines are dirty or while doffing on another frame. Ans.—Rates will be adjusted to allow time and pay for cleaning. We have never held anyone responsible for broken machinery where due care has been exercised.

16. Bleach house—10 per cent readjustment in wages. Ans.—This is taken care of in our general statement. Dry rates in the Bleachery will be increased.

17. Wet twisting—Want pay for cleaning—full 16-ounce skein instead of 12 1-2 ounce paid for 8 Victor. Ans.—Cleaning time is allowed in the piece rates. Reeling 12 1-2 ounce skein heavy machine thread will be paid for as 16 ounces.

18. Inspectors—Want 10 percent increase. Mrs. Nellie Joyce to receive more pay than any other inspector for extra work. Ans.—Inspectors will be paid thirty cents an hour and head inspector thirty-two cents.

19. Machine shop—Wants time and a half for overtime and 10 per cent increase. Ans.—For work done between starting time in the morning and 6.00 p.m. straight day rates will be paid and for work done after 6.00 p.m., up to starting time in the morning and from 12 noon Saturday to starting time Monday morning, time and half will be paid. The request for 10 per cent is answered in our general statement. There will be no discrimination against any worker for any strike activity. We have no grievance with any of our workers and they may return to their work without discrimination.

Whether or not the strikers will reverse their decision and return to work on Monday morning, pending the promised adjustments, is a moot question.

Fiery Cross Blazes Again

A still alarm Wednesday evening just before nine o'clock called the department to a field off Chestnut street owned by G. Richard Abbott where a fiery cross was blazing.

Military Honors for O'Sullivan

The funeral of Bartholomew B. O'Sullivan, formerly of Andover, aviator machinist's mate, who met his death early last Thursday morning, September 3, in the Shenandoah disaster, was held in Lowell Tuesday morning with impressive military honors, and with a solemn high mass in the Sacred Heart church at ten o'clock. The church was thronged, and the line of the funeral procession was crowded with those eager to do honor to the dead hero, whom they had known as a boy and neighbor. The American Legion, a detail of United States marines, and the O. M. I. Cadets of Lowell took a conspicuous part in the funeral services.

Mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Dennis A. Sullivan. Prayers at the house at nine o'clock preceded the mass. Commander John J. Walsh headed the delegation from Lowell Post, No. 87, American Legion, and a delegation of O. M. I. cadets was led by Maj. Francis Reardon, in the funeral procession. The funeral was held from the home of William H. Pollock at 9 Burlington avenue. A band furnished by the city of Lowell led the procession. Rev. William F. Mahan, O. M. I. champlain of Lowell post, American Legion, assisted Fr. Sullivan as deacon and Rev. Thomas F. Regan, chaplain at the Charlestown Navy Yard, was subdeacon. A quartet of O. M. I. cadets sang outside the church at the conclusion of the mass.

A detachment of blue jackets from the Charlestown navy yard comprised a firing squad at the grave.

Similarity

"Good morning, sir," said the stranger. "Your face seems familiar; I've either seen you before or some one very much like you." The native pondered over this, took another chew of tobacco and replied:

"Well, I've never seen you before—or else it's some one else very much like you I've never seen before."

SEES WITCHCRAFT AS OLD RELIGION

New Theory Concerning Ancient Superstition.

Science has a brand-new and very interesting theory to explain the belief in witches which at various times in the past, both on this continent and in Europe, has been the source of so much worry to God-fearing Christians, says the Louisville Courier-Journal.

According to this theory witchcraft was a religion which preceded Christianity in western Europe by many centuries and which, after the coming of the new faith, flourished there for a time side by side with it.

In its primitive form the witch deity was incarnate in a man or a woman or an animal. Later on this deity was elected from among the members of the cult.

And did the believer in witchcraft at one time worship the devil, as some of our ancestors thought when they jailed and hanged supposed witches so relentlessly in the Massachusetts town of Salem?

Miss Margaret A. Murray, an English anthropologist, who has been studying the subject of witchcraft for many years, says there is no positive proof that they did so except what is to be found in the testimony of the cult's bitter enemies. The mysterious rites of witchcraft were always celebrated in the strictest secrecy.

Miss Murray thinks that the adherents of this older religion at last may have been driven by the growing strength of Christianity to regard the devil as their god. In those days Christianity's chief strength was among the upper classes and witchcraft's among the lower. This fact intensified the hostility of the adherents of the two religions.

Christianity was unalterably opposed to the barbaric rites of the witches and to their simple conception of the universe. As a result the witches eventually may have been forced to include in their ritual of initiation a specific denial of the entire Christian faith—God, the immortality of the soul and everything else the followers of Christ hold dear.

Miss Murray suggests that possibly it was the Christians themselves who first fastened the iden of devil worship upon the witches. The chief deity of the witch cult was first worshiped under a variety of names. Since the witches regarded this being as the supreme ruler of the universe, it was only natural for the Christians to term him the devil, Lucifer, Beelzebub, the Foul Fiend, the Enemy of Salvation and the Evil One.

Old Landmark Injured

Scrabo tower, an ancient landmark at Newtownards, County Down, Ireland, was recently struck by lightning during a severe storm. The bolt dug an extensive hole beside the tower walls. So violent was the crash that windows were smashed to fragments. Scrabo tower was erected in the year 1857 in memory of Charles William Vane, third marquis of Londonderry, by his tenantry and friends. The monument stands on an eminence of 540 feet and is itself 135 feet high—about the same height as the Albert memorial in Belfast. The prominent position which it occupies enables it to be seen from the heights around Belfast, and it can be viewed from the hills of Antrim and from the shores and islands of Strangford to far away Portaferry.

Daring French Thief

Stealing a bronze dolphin from the fountain in broad daylight in the Place de la Republique was a feat recently accomplished by a lone man in Paris. A policeman saw the man detaching the dolphin and questioned his right to do so. The man replied that he was removing the dolphin for repairs. Eventually he departed with the dolphin in a handcart. The disappearance of the dolphin was commented on by the newspapers, and a few days later a dealer in antiques called on the commissioner of police and informed him that he had bought a bronze dolphin corresponding to the missing one. This statement was confirmed, and now the police are seeking the pretended workman, who is said to be a well-known safe-breaker.

Panama Canal Revenues

The Panama canal has not as yet completely paid for itself. The cost of construction including payments to Panama and France, approximated $375,000,000. The total amount of tolls collected from 1915 to 1922 aggregated $75,000,000. Three years ago, for purposes of accounting, a part of the total cost of constructing the canal was written off to national defense. This left, June 30, 1924, a balance of $235,684,662 as the investment in the canal proper and an additional sum of $4,017,642,40 invested in equipment. In 1924 the net income of the Panama canal was $16,307,948.50, and the net profit on auxiliary business operations was $901,624.12.

Alien Women Top Men

Alien women seeking American naturalization in the United States usually meet the examination in naturalization court better than men. The percentage of women successfully passing the test in the eastern part of the United States is said to be considerably larger than that of the men.

South Church Notes

The double quartet resumes its service after the summer vacation under the direction of John A. Arnold, who fills for the present the place made vacant by the removal of Frederic G. Moore to Pittsfield.

The Beginners department of the church school under the care of Miss Harriet Carter will hold its sessions during the hour of morning worship, and it is hoped that some mothers of young children will then be enabled to attend the morning service in the church while their children are being cared for in the Vestry.

The main portion of the church school will hold its first session of the season immediately after the morning service.

The young people also are called to meet at the Endeavor service at 6.30 o'clock.

The Alpha Chapter of X. B. K. young men is asked to assemble at the session of the church school and to plan for attending the Convention in Methuen on Saturday afternoon at 2.30, September 19.

Put the Dead Letter Office Out of Business

There is something of sacredness about the contents of a letter. The writer often reveals more of himself on the written page than he would in direct conversation. This revelation of course, is designed only for the eyes of the correspondent.

In this country a wholesome respect has been built up for the sanctity of a letter, but it is not so respected in many other countries where the opening and reading of sealed mail becomes, at times, so prevalent that the practise has earned the appellation "cracking seals."

The average American would be filled with wrath and the timid soul would shrink with horror at the thought of a third person, and a stranger at that, reading his "personal correspondence."

Yet, that is exactly what happens to 21,000,000 letters a year and will continue so long as letter writers fail to put return addresses on their envelopes.

When a letter, without a return address, can not be delivered for any reason, it is sent, after a certain time, to the Dead Letter Office.

There it is opened and read — not for the possible scandal it may contain — but with a view to finding some clue which will enable forwarding on to the addressee or returning to the sender.

Out of every five letters received at the Dead Letter Office such a clue is found in one and it is sent merrily on its delayed way to one or the other of the two persons most interested, in its disposition. The other four are destroyed.

Every person knows his own address and if he would put it on the envelope, the contents would remain inviolate and the letter would be returned with notice of non-delivery.

Not only that but the Dead Letter Office and all its attendant expense would go out of business because less than one letter in a hundred reaching that institution contains a return address.

Know How to Do It

In northern New England beans have been baked from time immemorial in a hole in the ground, the hole having first been lined with stones and the stones made very hot with a fire built in the hole.

Simple Marriage Rite

Marriage is celebrated in a strange fashion in some parts of India. The woman puts a pot of water in her prospective husband's house, and on his lifting it up the marriage is ratified.

Buying a Car

When a man buys a car simply because it is speedy he is taking his first step toward the hospital, the undertaker's or the police court, and while such would not be an unforgivable error, if he alone were concerned, when we consider the safety that hundreds of thousands of other motorists and pedestrians who use our highways are entitled to, it becomes a serious question whether, to induce the purchase of a car, a salesman uses sound judgment in stressing speed, knowing that speed is responsible for fully 50 per cent of all our motoring accidents.

Many of our States have a speed limit at which autos may travel and be within the law, and before long all of them will have passed such laws, and if accidents and deaths continue, due to speed, the manufacturers will be called upon and required to produce cars to conform to the law's requirements.

Every effort is being made to cut down casualties by appealing to the good sense of motorists and attempting to educate the users of motor vehicles to the absolute necessity of care in driving, and by making laws and regulations not too drastic; but if the small per cent of reckless drivers and speedsters cannot be eliminated in this way, all drivers will be made to suffer by more stringent methods.

Perhaps some readers may be skeptical about speed being the chief cause of so many accidents, but if they scan the daily papers with care and with apaer and pencil in hand, check up those in which speed plays its deadly part, they will soon become convinced. And if they have opportunity to see the motoring statistics issued by several of our States, or the reports issued by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce which are compiled brom facts of auto zccidents investigated and reported by over 300 newspapers throughout the country, all doubt as to the correctness of the statement will vanish. And if more positive proof is required it is only necessary to read the records of communities where speed has been kept down to a reasonable degree, and note the falling off of accidents and fatalities. In a number of cities in Caifornia, Michigan, Illinois, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York, and also in New England, it is constantly being shown.

After all, why is it necessary to speed—to go faster than safety at any given point demands? It is hard, at times, to understand the motives that prompt speeding. Supposing one is held up by traffic for five or ten minutes, is that a reasonable excuse for endangering the lives of other people? What if a tire does go flat, and 15 or 20 minutes are required to make a change. The laws need not be broken because of it. Every motorist should realize the folly of taking a chance; a hundred times he may be successful, and then, smash! It's all over in a second, and if he still lives he may possible wonder how it happened. But before all this takes place, remember this:—Accidents don't just happen—they are caused and taking chances by speeding causes one-half of them.

Nickname for Americans

"Brother Jonathan" was a once popular nickname for the people of the United States. It was originally applied in a humorous way by George Washington in the War of the Revolution to Jonathan Trumbull of Connecticut, and afterward became a popular designation of the American nation. When Washington went to Massuchusetts to organize the Revolutionary army he found it sadly in need of ammunition. On one occasion during that critical period a council of officers was held to remedy this state of affairs, but no means were devised to supply the deficiency, whereupon Washington exclaimed, "We must consult Brother Jonathan on the subject," referring to the governor of Connecticut. The term Brother Jonathan gained currency during the war and came in some way later to be applied to the people as a whole.—Kansas City Star.

Firestone

Tire Prices Are LOW—

CRUDE RUBBER HIGHEST IN YEARS

Buy Now and Save Money!

The unprecedented demand for Firestone quality and mileage has more than doubled the sales of Gum-Dipped Cords to car owners so far this year, enabling us—because of this tremendous volume—to keep prices low.

Experienced car owners insist on tires that deliver the greatest mileage at the lowest cost per mile, because such tires last longer—make the restricted rubber supply go further—reduce crude rubber costs—and help maintain the present low tire prices.

Gum-Dipping, the Firestone extra process, is also one of the biggest and most important economy factors in tire performance. This method of treating cord fabric, developed by Firestone tire chemists and engineers, insulates every fiber of every cord with rubber, and gives the sidewalls the extra strength to withstand the extra flexing strain—insuring maximum safety, comfort and economy.

Buy now—make sure of economical transportation by obtaining these outstanding Firestone superiorities at present low prices.

BOWLING GREEN CHAMPS

Shawsheen Wins New England Title and Cup at Fall River—Defeats Boston, National Champions, in Final

The Annual Lawn Bowling tournament for the championship of New England was won by the team from the Shawsheen Bowling Club at Fall River on Labor Day. Teams representing clubs from Boston, Brockton, Fall River, Hartford Thistle, Hartford Fernlea, Providence, Pawtucket, Smithfield and Shawsheen were entered.

The Shawsheen team was represented by James G. Robb, David B. Robb, James Skea, David Strachen, skip, and they deserve credit for their nice performance against the Boston National Champion team whom they defeated in the final.

With nine teams entered, it was necessary to have an elimination competition, Fall River being drawn against the Hartford club. Shawsheen was drawn against the new club from Hartford, the Fernlea, skipped by Dr. Johnstone, and it proved to be the hardest match of the three for the Shawsheen boys. The cold, raw air seemed to affect the players but the steady bowling of Jim Skea and a nice running shot by D. B. Robb which gave Shawsheen six points at the twelfth end enabled Shawsheen to enter the semi-final by beating Fernlea, 19-12.

After lunch, Shawsheen had to wait until the Fall River and Hartford Thistle settled their tie. This proved a very interesting match, with Fall River leading 11-0 at one time. The Thistle came back strong, however, and at the end of the game both teams were even. They had to roll an extra end; Fall River nosed out by one point and were elected to meet Shawsheen in the sem-final.

Shawsheen got away to a bad start. Fall River won the first end by four points, and Shawsheen's board of strategy went into session and the results of their conference became manifest at once. Fall River did not score again until the seventh when they evened up the score. Skea came to the rescue in the ninth end by carrying the Jack for two points after Fall River had four counters in. Fall River did not get another chance to score until the thirteenth end when they collected two points. Shawsheen took the next two ends and entered the final, winning 13-7. Fall River got only three ends out of fifteen.

The stage was now set for the final game. Boston having disposed of all their opponents without much effort, being represented by the team that had won the National Championship at Hartford in competition with forty-four teams entered from the different clubs in the country, and in charge of the veteran, Sandy Simpson, the prospects of the Shawsheen boys were not very bright. Owing to the dull weather and the late hour, the executive committee decided to call the game at 7.15; this allowed approximately seventy-five minutes to play the final. Boston won the choice of rinks and decided to play on the one where they had just defeated the Brockton team, and one which Shawsheen had not played on. This did not worry Strachen's boys, however, they were warmed up and determined to give a good account of themselves. Boston won the first end with two points but Shawsheen came back strong and won the next four and were leading 4-2 at the fifth end. Shawsheen were now bowling in real championship form, from the Lead to the Skip. It might be said in passing that Boston's Lead played for the Scottish Counties Championship team against England last year, but he did not have anything on Jim Robb in this game, who was able to land his bowls right at the spot selected by Skip Strachen. The sixth end looked bad for Shawsheen, Boston had five shots in the count. Skea and Strachen went into conference again and looked the green over and decided on a course of action. Strachen had one bowl to play, and at the signal from Skea, he delivered it; up the green it rolled right through the little port decided on by the strategy board, carrying the Jack back to where Shawsheen had two bowls, Strachen's bowl resting on the Jack. It was a perfect shot, which counted three points, putting them five up on the sixth end. This increased the confidence of the Shawsheen team and they carried on in good form, taking four points on the next end. Boston came back in the eighth, however, and got two, so that they still had a chance.

With five minutes left to play the teams started on the last end; the Boston man led off and placed one right on the Jack, Jim Robb pushed him off and took the shot. The second Boston man knocked it out and opened up the game again. Jim Skea put in two for the count. Munroe and Simpson both tried to drive them out but were unsuccesful, and Shawsheen captured the New England Championship Cup with a score of 13-4.

The final was played in nine ends and Boston only succeeded in winning two of them.

A business meeting of the New England Bowling league was held after the tournament. President Archie Adam was reelected. Chas. S. Retty was reelected secretary and treasurer.

The Fall River club served a chicken dinner to the visitors and furnished a nice entertainment. After the dinner President Adam called up the winners of the New England tournament and congratulated them on their victory. He then presented the cup to Skip Strachen, who handed it to D. B. Robb, president of the Shawsheen Bowling club, with the remark that he could not make speeches.

President Robb in his remarks said that he hoped that their victory would be the means of stimulating the interest in bowling in this district and although Shawsheen was a small club in point of membership, he was glad they had been able to furnish men good enough to win the championship. President Adam then presented the four players with the individual prizes that go with the winning of the cup.

The next tournament will be held in Brockton on Labor Day, 1926.

Obituary

HENRY J. KOELLEN

Henry J. Koellen, prominent in Lawrence business and fraternal circles for the past two decades, passed away Tuesday morning at the family home, 18 Canterbury street. Death followed an illness of more than six months.

Deceased was born in Cologne, Germany, fifty-three years ago and came to this country with his parents when less than a year old. For many years he resided in Brooklyn, N. Y., and moved to Lawrence in early manhood where he made his home until he moved to Shawsheen three years ago. He was in business in Lawrence for many years and retired some time ago owing to ill health.

He was a prominent member of Lawrence lodge, 165, B. P. O. E. for years and served as its exalted ruler for a term. He was also affiliated with several German-American societies and lodges.

He is survived by his wife, Minnie W. Koellen; his mother, Mrs. Agnes Koellen, and by three sisters residing in Brooklyn, N. Y.

The funeral will be held from the late home this afternoon. Rev. Richard R. Lange, pastor of the German Presbyterian church of Lawrence will officiate at the services and will be assisted by a delegation from the Lawrence lodge of Elks.

League Opens Tomorrow

The Shawsheen soccer team will face Providence tomorrow in their first game in the American soccer league. Although the team has not been through a game at full strength the management and players are confident that they will be able to stop the visitors and get off to a flying start in the league race.

The probable lineup will be: Murdock, goal; Mills and Lorrimer, backs; Nixon, Thompson and Watkins, halfbacks; McGowan, Carrie, Stradan, Smith and Farquhar, forwards.

Walker and Lamont in Final

The boys' tennis tournament has advanced to the final round and Lamont will meet H. Walker in the final match. The youngsters have shown some fine tennis all this week and if some of them stick to the courts for a few years, the village will have some excellent tennis players.

Walker worked his way into the finals by defeating Bartlett in the first round 4-6, 6-3, 6-4. His victim in the second round was Best whom he defeated 6-4, 1-6, 6-4 and Graham defaulted to him in the sem-final.

Lamont won his first round match from Clark 6-1, 6-2 and in the second defeated Martelle 6-3, 6-4. In the semi-final he won over Allen 6-1, 6-4, and on the strength of his preliminary playing looks good enough to win the junior title.

Charles Murray went out in the first round, losing to Martelle 7-5, 7-5. It was his playing in the senior tourney that caused quite a commotion and his defeat in the first round of the boys' tournament was the big upset of the week.

The summary to date:

First round: Walker defeated Bartlett, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4; Best defeated Levasseau, 6-1, 6-2; Rondeau, bye; Graham defeated Todd, 6-1, 6-1; Lamont defeated Clark, 6-1, 6-2; Martelle defeated Murray, 7-5, 7-5; Allen, bye; Hardy defeated Sherburne, 7-5, 7-5.

Second round: Walker defeated Best, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4; Graham defeated Rondeau, 6-1, 6-0; Lamont defeated Martelle, 6-3, 6-4; Allen defeated Hardy, 11-9, 6-3.

Semi-final round: Graham defaulted to Walker and Lamont defeated Allen, 6-1, 6-4.

Returns With Bride

W. Herbert Lamb, formerly connected with the American Woolen company in the Administration building, returned last Sunday on the Leyland liner, Winifredian, with his bride of six weeks, Selma Solarita, a talented Spanish dancer. The couple met two years ago in Europe and on July 18 were married at the American church in Paris.

They went to England where Mrs. Lamb was offered flattering contracts to appear at the London Coliseum but she declined, prefering to come to America. En route to this country, Mrs. Lamb danced at the concert aboard ship and her husband, who is also a talented musician and whose love for music led to meeting his wife, also had a part in the program.

Bowling Green Tournament

The Annual tournament of the Bowling Green clubs opened this week for the Burns challenge cup. In the second round, R. Williams beat R. Scobie 21-20 in one of the most exciting matches ever played on the green.

The club goes to Boston tomorrow to play a return match with the Hub team on the Franklin Park Greens.

McGRATH LOSES CUP

Winner in 1923 and 1924 Bows to Loring A. Higgins in Final of Shawsheen Tennis Championship

Loring A. Higgins won a leg on the William M. Wood cup, emblematic of the tennis championship of Shawsheen, by defeating William McGrath, Sunday, in three sets, 7-5, 6-4, 6-4 in the final match of the tournament. A win for McGrath would have given him permanent possession of the trophy as he had won the title the past two years, but Higgins' superb playing carried him through and kept the cup in competition for another year.

The winner played brilliantly throughout the three sets and was seldom in danger. He continually forced the play to McGrath's weakness, the backhand, and realized many points from the method of attack.

While the summary shows him guilty of 13 double-service faults to McGrath's 3, this was more than offset by his 8 service aces to none for McGrath and his 34 placements to the loser's 7.

The brand of tennis displayed by the contestants kept the gallery on edge all the way and both brought forth applause by brilliant rallies.

The tournament this year was one of the best that has been conducted and interest has been kept up by adhering to the dates set for the completion of matches and not allowing them to lag.

The summary of the final match:

STROKE ANALYSIS

Shawsheen Loses Opener

Shawsheen, although defeated 4 to 1 last Saturday in an exhibition contest with Fall River, gave a good account of themselves and with the addition of the new players to come this week will give all the teams in the American league a tussle. It was Fall River's fourth game this season and their teamwork gave evidence of their previous playing. Their front line coordinated well and the fans were treated to a fine exhibition of passing, but Shawsheen's halfback line played a wonderful game and broke up many attacks on the goal. Watkins and Nixon were the outstanding defenders and both worked hard for a victory.

Shawsheen's lone goal came in the last minute of the game and was scored by Carrie after taking a pass from Farquhar. The locals had several other chances to score but poor shooting cost them points. In the second half Raeside handled in the penalty area but Lorrimer, who took the penalty kick, drove directly at Kerr who saved easily.

Despite the four goals scored against him, Murdock looked good in goal and twice White, who played a great game for the visitors, broke through and had a clean field, only to be stopped by the Shawsheen goalie who ran out and forced him to kick outside the uprights.

Fall River opened the scoring nine minutes after the game started when Wilson took a pass from Lauchlin and breaking through the Shawsheen defense shot one past Murdock. Play went back and forth on even terms for a while and finally White beat out the defense again and placed a nice shot in the net for the visitors' second score. Their last one in the first half came on a penalty kick awarded against Lorrimer for handling.

Shawsheen played much better in the second half and Fall River were able to break through but once. Four minutes after the half opened White again shot one past Murdock that had him beat all the way. A free kick in the goal area midway in the half gave Shawaheen an excellent chance to score but Kerr saved, the ball bounding over the crossbar for a fruitless corner kick.

The game which was scheduled for Labor Day afternoon with Boston had to be called off on account of the inclement weather. At the time the management called the game off in the morning, it was raining hard and while it cleared up in the afternoon, they were justified in making the postponement. There were a few fans on hand to witness the game and they were free in their criticisms when they were notified that there would be no contest, but these same fans would have been far from Balmoral field had the rain of the morning continued through the afternoon.

In a preliminary to the Shawsheen-Fall River soccer game, Hardy & Ross baseball team were defeated by the Harps of Lawrence in a close and well-played game 3 to 2. Paul Dyer was on the mound for the Hardy & Ross team and pitched well enough to win, but errors at critical times robbed him of what seemed a sure victory. McCarthy pitched for the winners and allowed but four hits, although he passed four.

Walker contributed the fielding feature in the fourth inning when he scooped in Lee's pop bunt inches from the ground. He fell after making the catch but recovered in time to make a double play on Donovan off first base.
